

CLASS
What are the limitations of your economic status?

The Hunter Teen Advisory Council (HTAC) wants to know how you would answer these difficult questions about your own personal identity. Choose one of the questions on the left and illustrate the answer visually on the front. Use any form of expression you want: paint, pencil, collage, text....anything.

HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

Circle the question you answered and mail it back to the Hunter by April 20. Do not put your name on this card. All postcards are anonymous. You can also drop off your card at the front desk during normal operating hours. Examples can be found at www.huntermuseum.org/teens.

The Themes of Identity exhibition at the Hunter explores class, gender, nationalism, self, and race through works of American art and is on view until June 6.

All postcards will be exhibited on April 22, 2010 as visitors take part in a large scale socially active game to find clues in the Hunter's collection to win some cool prizes. Admission is free for all high school students and the event begins at 6 p.m.

For more information or questions email hnajjar@huntermuseum.org or call 423-752-2043.

GENDER
What do you like the least about being a man or a woman?

NATIONALISM
If you could change one thing about America, what would it be?

SELF
If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?

RACE
Are there any stereotypes about your race that you think are true? What?

Place Stamp Here

CLASS
What are the limitations of your economic status?

The Hunter Teen Advisory Council (HTAC) wants to know how you would answer these difficult questions about your own personal identity. Choose one of the questions on the left and illustrate the answer visually on the front. Use any form of expression you want: paint, pencil, collage, text....anything.

HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

Circle the question you answered and mail it back to the Hunter by April 20. Do not put your name on this card. All postcards are anonymous. You can also drop off your card at the front desk during normal operating hours. Examples can be found at www.huntermuseum.org/teens.

The Themes of Identity exhibition at the Hunter explores class, gender, nationalism, self, and race through works of American art and is on view until June 6.

All postcards will be exhibited on April 22, 2010 as visitors take part in a large scale socially active game to find clues in the Hunter's collection to win some cool prizes. Admission is free for all high school students and the event begins at 6 p.m.

For more information or questions email hnajjar@huntermuseum.org or call 423-752-2043.

GENDER
What do you like the least about being a man or a woman?

NATIONALISM
If you could change one thing about America, what would it be?

SELF
If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?

RACE
Are there any stereotypes about your race that you think are true? What?

Place Stamp Here

CLASS
What are the limitations of your economic status?

The Hunter Teen Advisory Council (HTAC) wants to know how you would answer these difficult questions about your own personal identity. Choose one of the questions on the left and illustrate the answer visually on the front. Use any form of expression you want: paint, pencil, collage, text....anything.

HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

Circle the question you answered and mail it back to the Hunter by April 20. Do not put your name on this card. All postcards are anonymous. You can also drop off your card at the front desk during normal operating hours. Examples can be found at www.huntermuseum.org/teens.

The Themes of Identity exhibition at the Hunter explores class, gender, nationalism, self, and race through works of American art and is on view until June 6.

All postcards will be exhibited on April 22, 2010 as visitors take part in a large scale socially active game to find clues in the Hunter's collection to win some cool prizes. Admission is free for all high school students and the event begins at 6 p.m.

For more information or questions email hnajjar@huntermuseum.org or call 423-752-2043.

GENDER
What do you like the least about being a man or a woman?

NATIONALISM
If you could change one thing about America, what would it be?

SELF
If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?

RACE
Are there any stereotypes about your race that you think are true? What?

Place Stamp Here

CLASS
What are the limitations of your economic status?

The Hunter Teen Advisory Council (HTAC) wants to know how you would answer these difficult questions about your own personal identity. Choose one of the questions on the left and illustrate the answer visually on the front. Use any form of expression you want: paint, pencil, collage, text....anything.

HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

Circle the question you answered and mail it back to the Hunter by April 20. Do not put your name on this card. All postcards are anonymous. You can also drop off your card at the front desk during normal operating hours. Examples can be found at www.huntermuseum.org/teens.

The Themes of Identity exhibition at the Hunter explores class, gender, nationalism, self, and race through works of American art and is on view until June 6.

All postcards will be exhibited on April 22, 2010 as visitors take part in a large scale socially active game to find clues in the Hunter's collection to win some cool prizes. Admission is free for all high school students and the event begins at 6 p.m.

For more information or questions email hnajjar@huntermuseum.org or call 423-752-2043.

GENDER
What do you like the least about being a man or a woman?

NATIONALISM
If you could change one thing about America, what would it be?

SELF
If you could change one thing about yourself, what would it be?

RACE
Are there any stereotypes about your race that you think are true? What?

Place Stamp Here

 HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

ATTN: HTAC
10 Bluff View
Chattanooga, TN 37403

 HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

ATTN: HTAC
10 Bluff View
Chattanooga, TN 37403

 HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

ATTN: HTAC
10 Bluff View
Chattanooga, TN 37403

 HunterMUSEUM
of American Art

ATTN: HTAC
10 Bluff View
Chattanooga, TN 37403